

Stem Cells: The Fountain of Youth!

Robin Blanc Mascari

IS IT POSSIBLE TO LIVE YOUNGER LONGER?

Do things have to go downhill the older we get? Why do we age? What causes the aging process? How do we access the Fountain of Youth?

Tales of the sacred Fountain of Youth have existed for thousands of years—well before the birth of Spanish conquistador Juan Ponce de León in the late 1400s, who has been credited for finding such a fountain. Explorers throughout time to the current day have searched the world for this mythical fountain...

Yet, recent, clinically proven science and brand-new technology proves history wrong! This sought-after rejuvenation was NOT to be found in some faraway land—it was inside of us all the time. Our own stem cells are the true Fountain of Youth!

There are a variety of perspectives on the question of why we age. Many worldwide researchers now agree that there's a direct link between the amount of healthy, young stem cells a body has access to and how young we look, feel and perform, and how quickly we heal. But our stem cells decrease as we age!

We start life with over a billion stem cells. At age 35, we have 50% less of our own stem cells. By age 60, we have lost 90% of them!

LifeWave X39™ Stem-Cell Activation Patches were introduced to the world in January of 2019. This breakthrough technology can be the Fountain of Youth that allows you to look, feel, and perform even decades younger than you are now!

Stem cells are drawn to the cells in our body that need to be repaired, rebuilt, or regenerated—due to either injury and damage or illness and aging. The aging process causes the natural deterioration of our bodies. In addition, our modern lifestyles expose us to many toxins and free radicals that damage our cells and cause further aging, pain, fatigue and disease. Stem cells replace old cells that are too deteriorated to work properly or too damaged to repair.

Do you remember your younger days, when you had abundant energy, never thought about wrinkles, always slept well, and recovered quickly from illness and injuries? These non-transdermal patches provide the body with a level of health and vitality that you have not experienced since you were
