LIGHT-INFUSED™ WATER

MEET LIFEWAVE X₂O™

LifeWave X₂O is a category-defining technology that transforms how you experience water through the power of light.

Using patented light-infusion technology, LifeWave X₂O energizes every drop of water you drink - releasing light into your body - making it available internally in a way never before possible, supporting hydration at the cellular level.

Supported by advanced dual-stage filtration and hydrogen enrichment, LifeWave X₂O doesn't just purify - it optimizes. This system works behind the scenes to deliver clean, energized water that optimizes hydration at the cellular level, supporting energy, detoxification, and overall well-being.

Designed for those who expect more from their water, and more from their health - LifeWave X₂O is water re-imagined, powered by light.

DISCLAIMER: Our Primary Filter technology is currently undergoing accredited laboratory testing, state registrations, and full NSF certification. The Primary Filter was previously tested to remove all major water contaminants. In order for us to make formal written claims, the filter requires additional testing in our product configuration. We have selected this premium filter to best integrate with our technology, as well as with the secondary filtration and Hydrogen stages.

This filter forms the core of LifeWave X2O's contaminant-reduction system. Created from a powerful filter system that is designed to reduce a broad range of impurities found in municipal tap water.
